(57) ABSTRACT

A garment having a detachable pocket receives personal items such as a mobile phone. The garment having detachable pocket includes a pouch, attached to the garment and having a closure means; and a pocket which is detachably attached to the pouch by an attachment means. The attachment means comprises a pouch attachment means and a pocket attachment means such that the pouch attachment means is constructed to detachably attach to the pocket attachment means. In addition, the pouch attachment means is located inside the pouch such that when the pouch attachment means is attached to the pocket attachment means and the pocket is not in use, the pocket can be rolled up onto the pouch and the closure means is closed to contain the pocket in the pouch.
